AREAS OF PRACTICE

Thomas joined Lloyds PR Solicitors in January 2018. He deals with a wide variety of cases, ranging from police station matters to those in the Crown Court and occasionally the Court of Appeal. He also has experience working on extradition cases as well as Crown Court confiscation proceedings.

In September 2018, Thomas became a fully qualified Police Station Representative. He frequently attends the police station to represent and advise defendants in custody.

In November 2020, Thomas was admitted to the roll of solicitors. He regularly attends the magistrates court to represent defendants accused of a wide range of offences.

NOTABLE CASES
